

When will Papua New Guinea Communications deploy 5G base stations

IMT 2020 (5G) is the next step in mobile broadband wireless communications. Compared with 4G, 5G offers a new network architecture to help significantly boost overall performance. 5G will ...

Minister Tsiamalili said the decision represents the first time in PNG's history that spectrum allocation will follow a market-based model. He explained that this reflects the Marape ...

"Access to fast and reliable Internet and mobile services is essential therefore the release of the 5G spectrum will support better connectivity and access to the latest wireless technologies.

Acting Ministry of Information and Communications Technology, Peter Tsiamalili Jnr announced the release of the Fifth Generation (5G) mobile spectrum in PNG, Wednesday 20th ...

The spectrum release, approved by the NICTA Board in July 2025, sets the stage for 5G adoption. The minister concluded that this step would revolutionize mobile broadband and drive ...

The assignment of spectrum will be conducted through an open and transparent process, with commercial and business 5G services expected to launch in the second quarter of 2026.

The 2600 MHz band has been released for 5G services, which the minister said would bring vast opportunities for innovation, business investment, and inclusive growth.

Papua New Guinea is taking its next big leap in digital connectivity with 5G services set to roll out in five major urban centres. This announcement was made by ICT Minister Hon. Timothy ...

The government's recent announcement that 5G will launch first in Port Moresby, Lae, Mt Hagen, Goroka, and Kokopo is bound to stir debate about who really benefits from this leap.

DataCo's nationwide digital infrastructure carries 5G signals and services. Without a strong fibre network and secure data centers, 5G could not reach PNG's people effectively.

When will Papua New Guinea Communications deploy 5G base stations

Web: <https://www.minimercadofortem.es>

